LINK WITH THE DEAD PAST. Woman Has Handkerchief Stained with Blood of Charles I.

An interesting Derbyshire "link with the past" is recalled by Mr. K. K. Grandmother Found It Impossible to Sharpley of Hatfield college, Doncas Disassociate Them; ter, in a letter to the Sheffield Telegraph. He says: "In 1872, when a boy, staying at Hulland ward, Derby, shire, I called on an old woman, Elizabeth Durose, then-97, widow of a farmer, who told me that her grandmother. the twins were a unit.

"You were asking me how much the execution of Charles I. The old woman then took out of a corner cup-board an old prayer-book, bound in black leather, which was, I fancy, of the time of Queen Anne, for I remember it had a frontispiece picturing a ing a long wig, saying prayers in a three-decker. Opening it at the form of service for January 30, she showed me a piece of coarse linen, of the color of a dead, leaf, which she said was a portion of a handkerchief which had been dipped in the King's blood, and was given to her grandmother by the above eye-witness. When it first passed into her possession it was nearly entire, but her children had played with it, and this was all she had man aged to preserve." Derby (England)

BACK TO FRANKLIN THEORY.

Modern Scientists May Be Forced to Rehabilitate It.

More than a hundred years have elapsed since Benjamin Franklin, em-ploying a phraseology now superseded, put forth a theory of matter, says a writer in Current Literature. It was put forth a theory of matter, says a writer in Current Literature. It was pronounced "a delusion" by the physicists of the ninteenth century, but the scientists of the twentieth century, according to Sir Oliver Lodge, may be forced to rehabilitate it as the only means of issue from the labyrinth in which all physical-study is now involv ed. Stripped of technical verbiage and put briefly, the Franklin theory is that electricity and matter in combination forms a neutral substance, which is the atom of matter as we know it. The most interesting part of the problem for ourselves, says Sir Oliver, is the for ourselves, says Sir Oliver, is the explanation of matter in terms of electricity, the view that electricity, as Franklin seems to have supposed, the fundamental "substance." What we men of to-day have been accustomed to regard as an indivisible atom of matter is thus built-up-out-of electricity. All atoms—atoms of all sects tricity.c All atoms-atoms of all sorts of "substances"—are built up of the clearly, the theoretical and proximate achievement of what philosophers from Franklin's day to ours have always sought-a unification of matter is offering itself to physical inquiry.

SERVANT PROBLEM IN CUBA.

Cook is in Sole Charge of the Domes-

The Cuban matron has little to say n the management of her own house old, as the family literally with their cook, who has sole control of the cusine. When a cook is en-gaged she is paid so much per month $10, $15 or $20, as the case may befor her work. She at once inquires how much is allowed for the market ing, which she is to do each morning.
On being told, she figures out how much she can save from the amount and if the graft amount to say 15 or 20 cents per day, she is likely to accept the-position.—She-rarely-sleeps at the own who are fed from the larder of employer. Where is the limit of human endurance under the nerve shattering and increasing stress of modern life? lieve." a medico-sociological savant informs us, "that we are approaching a condition of life under which men and women cannot live long and keep their reason. The amount of permanent loss to the man depends on the ability of his constitution to recuperate, and on whether or not the friction be resumed before the collapsed tissues of brain and body are completely rebuilt -

TO LESSEN CRIMINALITY.

By Cesare Lombroso.

From material submitted to me came the evidence that crimes in Australia are dimin-Ishing both in number and in gravity. How can this marked decrease of crime be explained, with all the statistics elsewhere being in contradiction? For eyen in Germany, one the most advanced of European nations, one sees crime and dereliction steadily inreasing, sees the number of renegade crim-Inals nearly doubled,

The signal diminution in Australia may be explained on the ground of its social reforms, for even the proetarian there stands better economicaly than an official in Europe. Another reason lies in the scattering of the Isolated outlying farms and the rule of pastoral life, which is little predisposed to crime, and, finally, in-the continual, uninterrupted warfare that is waged against the corruption of the young.

Turther than this, many judges and attorneys, who now feel themselves pledged to indict some punishment for the crime, will find another way and transform the social revenge into a healing process which will be far more efficacions than punishment.

ARGUING WITH WOMEN.

By Wallace Rice. Women have strange notions about the arguments of men. Few of the sterner sex have any good opinion of one of their fellows who not convictions he is prepared to stand by with the greatest earnestness. Most of us have them ourselves, and we expect them from other men. Women, not comprehending just the that argument plays in masculing mental economy, have a corresponding form of discourse which may best be characterized as wrangling. They talk and they differ, but it is seldom done with a view to obtaining light from an opponent.

Therefore men find what they consider argument with womankind not in the least profitable. It frequently settles down-into-an-exasperating desire to have the last word without the least reference to anything that has gone before it, or remains a sort of vocal strength test, When this contingency arises the wise man departs, and, If the matter is worth it, goes to his office and says what pher learned that the railroad for which she was working had determined o extend its line. She had a friend living in the town through which the line was to run. A letter to him, with her savings would have enabled him to buy at a low price the land the road needed and the peculiar nature of the ground in that neighborhood would have en abled him to sell at a great profit. She did not consider the thing more than a minute and then decided that it would be a dishonorable thing to do. Another stenographer in a large rea

But I do kot dare smile. 'I do not even dare resent it when he says things about my dumb luck n I lay down kings for an 80 meld or when he succringly suggests that should be a speculator if I quietly spread out four aces on the table

The secret of charming manners is the desire for them. When the mother wishes them for her daughter as much is she wishes the other goods of the world her daughter will have them.

A Lesson in Philanthron

A whole-souled resident of Harlem the other evening received the jolt of his career as a parent. While reading his evening paper the doorbell rang, and a parcel from a big department store was announced. The cost was 30 cents; and he gave his little bright eyes, a girl of 6, a two-dollar bill with which to pay the boy.

Half an hour later the subject recurred to him. "Here, Mabel," he said. "Where's that money I gave you for the boy?"

Self-Elliminating. William Jennings, Bryan is talking a good deal nowadays, and it is to be ob-served that his talks are usually replies to Democrats who dare to suggest some thing concerning the next cam-paign. If Henry Watterson says he has a candidate, Bill wants the dark horse trotted out right away. If some other Democrat urges the policy of naming a candidate from the South, Bill protests that section must not be dered. If Judson Harmon modestly hints that people want the tariff revised, Bill says, "All right, but that isn't the main thing; we must go after the trusts and railroads."

This constant nagging on the part of Mr. Bryan, this taking issue with every other Democrat in the country on every proposition advanced, thereby setting himself up as the party oracle and the only one, is doing more to make his nomination improbable than could be accomplished by years of organized effort. Prominent men in the party are. cetting tired of Mr. Bryan's bombast. He had no sooner stepped foot on American soil after his trip around the world than he placed his party on the defensive by advocating the government ownership of interstate railroads and state ownership of intrastate lines. This radical socialism created such a furore that Mr. Bryan was compelled to modify his statement, and he then declared it would be the natural outcome after government control was proved a failure. But Democrats repudiated his revision, and he has been studiously silent of late on that proposition. Flnally he asserted that Roosevelt was a good deal of a Democrat, because he had stolen Democratic principles and adapted them to his administration, whereat John Temple Graves suggested that, as a true American citizen, Mr. Brynn should go before the Democratic convention—and—nominate—Mr.—Roose velt. Suddenly Mr. Bryan discovered that Mr. Roosevelt, after all, was not a Democrat.

The fact is, Mr. Bryan is floundering. He wants to be President so bad-that he has lost his head. He has taken up one issue after another, only to find that the people will not follow his londership. He has been trying for. more than ten years to get into the current of public opinion and swim with it, that it would be impossible to check but he cannot locate it. He doesn't seem capable of properly analyzing con-ditions.—Toledo Blade.

Journal's subscription and advertising patronage? Both have been the beneficiaries of the era of prosperity that exists in this country on account of the Dingley tariff. Does the Journal think it has got to a point where it can get along without prosperity? Has it a notion that American industries can go on paying the highest wages ever known and employing full quotas of workmen in competition with the cheap labor of Europe? If it does, it is in-boring under a delusion. The removal of the petective principles of the tar-iff would instantly expose the industries of this country to the inroads of foreign goods made at starvation wages, and no matter how strong and pros-perous an institution is, it cannot long withstand such a corroding influence on its business. Wages would have to be lowered, quality of articles cheapened and money withdrawn from inrestment in unprofitable concerns. Any one with common sense can figure out the ultimate result of such a condition. The plan of this garden presented its self to Col. Posey two years ago when he, together with Attorney W. Z. He believed that plans life would their a believed that plant life would thrive un-der artificial light, and soid so. Then he proceeded to prove his theory and did it by producing tulips and carnations which flourished and bloomed in the gar den he laid out in the old mine.
In one of the old rooms of this abandoned mine Col. Posey arranged a bed for the plants. The plants needed light. so he arranged a small acctylene gas lamp so its rays would fall evenly over the hed. Within a short time flowers were growing rapidly, and in less than half

Nothing Too

There is NOTHING TOO GOOD for the American people—that's why we started to make Cascarets Candy Cathartic. The first box mad its appearance in 1896, and the enthusiastic endorsement of the people has been bestowed upon Cascarets ever since

The sale today is at the rate of OVER A MILLION BOXES A MONTH, proving that the American people recognize, that what is BEST FOR THEM is none too good.

Why this enormous patronage? The answer is simple: Cascarets are pure, clean, sweet mild, fragrant, harmless but effective little tablets for the treatment and cure of Constipation and all Bowel Troubles. They are put up in neat little enamel boxes, casy to buy, easy to carry (in vest-pocket or purse), easy to take and easy of action, always reliable, always the same, they "work while you sleep" and wake you up feeling fine in the morning. They not only regulate the movement and stimulate the muscular walks of the bowels, but they keep the ENTIRE CANAL CLEAN and antiseptic for the out and destroying all disease germs that breed in the accumulated fith indeed promptly and regularly discharged. Therefore, they are a great previous of disease, and may be taken continuously as a precautionary measure.

The new Pure Drugs Act, adopted by Congress on June 30, 1905, and sea effect January 1, 1907, is a GOOD LAW and means better and FURER drugs for the American People. We endorse it and will live up to it is. SPIRIT and LETTER, an easy task, as we have always been schamed by the same principles and no changes are required in our formule or park we adopted OUR OWN PURE DRUG LAW in 1895 when the first box of Cascarets came-on-the market and have lived and worked and groduced under it ever since.

To-day, after a record of nearly 100,000,000 boxes sold; Cascarets STAND the greater in PURITY, QUALITY and MEDICINAL MERIT than any other preparation for Bowel trouble in all the world.

This should be a great argument for any one to try Cancarra AT ONCE, and be healthier and happier for it. Some people have CARPANIC CONSTIPATION with all the horrors derived from it; others have HAP. ITUAL CONSTIPATION from carelessness and neglect, but meanly EVERYBODY has OCCASIONAL CONSTIPATION, which, it has promptly taken care of is liable to result in its degeneration into the work of the second state of the constitution of the work of the second state of the constitution of the second state of

We advise you to get a little 10c box of Cascarets TO-DAY and carry it in your purse or vest pocket. Take one when you feel anything about your bowels. Your own druggist will sell you the little box, under GUARANTY of satisfaction or money refunded. All druggists, 10c, 25c, 30c.

GRAYLING, THURSDAY, JULY 4

Grand Trunk — Grand Rapids.

At the eastern approach of Grand Rapids new solid concrete bridge is the new passenger station of the Grand Trunk Railway System. No better aite in the city could have been selected. It is centrally located near the corner of Canal and Bridge streets, only a few steps from the heart of the city and to the leading hotels and mercantile establishments. Four different street car lines pass directly by its door affording its passengers d rect transfer to all other railroad stations, hotels, furniture exhibition buildings and other important places of business. Less than one block distant are three other street car lines, a total of seven lines distributing people in fourteen different parts of the

It is seldom that a site so centrally located can be approached by trains without more or less annoyance on account of many street crossing, noise and smoke; but, in this instance, all the Grand Trunk System's large investments in one and one-half miles of concrete wall on the east front of the river on the top of which are located the tracks. This not only gives the city the benefit of a great improvement but affords passengers on this route a beautiful view of the Grand river rapids and many of the city's busy factories. The entire premise are attactive in appearance and are well in keeping with the many other improvements that are continually be ing made by merchants and factories

The building was designed by Spier and Rohns, Architects, Detroit, Mich. and erected by C. Hoertz and Son, Grand Rapids, Mich. It is construct ed of Maine granite, semi-glazed pressed brick; laid up in Flemish bond and trimmed with Bedford Lime-stone The roof is constructed of steel, covered with green glazed Spanish tile. The first story floor is made of re-inforced concrete finished off with mosiac floor-tiling. The main waiting room has a wainscot 13 feet high of seaglicia marble finished off with friezes and cornices in white and gold The ceiling is arched, divided into three panels by grith arches extend ing down to top of wainscot. A series of clere story windows along river side of this room and also a large arched window in rear furnish good and effective light for every part. The decorations of this room are light green and cream embellished by ornamental frizes and panels. The ticket office front consists, of marble ornamental wrough iron and beveled plate glass. The north-east corner is provided with a news stand, built of quarter-sawed oak. 'The ladies' roon is treated in white and gold. Mens smoking room in dark red, both rooms and connected with these-rooms are the toilets. All plumbing fixtures are of the best and most modern design. The building is heated by steam, with some indirect radiation for ventila-

The Supreme Court of Indiana has reersed the decision in the "Sopher case in which Judge Ira Christian of Nobles-yille held that all the liquor laws of Ip-dians were unconstitutional and that a saloon was a nuisancoper se. Judge Jordan said, in deciding the case, that the position of the State was wholly indefensible. He went back to the common law sible. He went back to the common law and showed that as early as 1535 the English parliament had undertaken to license and control the liquor traffic. TENEMENT FALLS; SEVEN DEAD.

Old Building in New York Shaken Down by Subway Traina. Seven persons, six of them members of one Italian family, the Torchinos, were killed in the collapse of a ramshackle ten-ement in the downtown Italian quarter in New York. Three other members of the same family; including the father and mother, are in a hospital, painfully in-jured, but will recover. Cosmo Bellucci, a lodger, was the seventh person killed. There were some exciting scenes immediately following the accident, one of which was the rescue of an old man from a two-foot ledge, forty feet from the ground, this portion of the fallen building having adhered to the adjoining structure long enough to permit the firemen to get to the scene, raise a ladder and take the man, Jacob Reigler, safely to the ground. AROUSED AT KING OF PORTUGAL People Ready to Establish Republic

A-correspondent says in a letter-mailed-from Lisbon a few days ago that King Carlos' throne is in imminent danger of being swept away by the rush of a great lemocratic wave, swollen sudden dangerous proportions by the act of des potism which he permitted on May 1. The people do not forget, the correspondent says, that last year the king condemned Premier Ribejio's attempt to dissolve the Cortes and they contrast this attitude toward a conservative premier with the curious illogical license he has given to premier Pranco. The general feeling of the country is one of advanced liberalism and a repetition of autocratic bungling can only have one result to day in Portugal, the writer says, namely, the deposition of the king and the establish-

For some reason not easy for the average citizen to discover there is not an American battleship between San Francisco and Manila. One by one they have been withdrawn from Pacific waters and joined to the Atlantic fleet, where they rendezvous at Newport and Jamestown, until there remains in the far east and on the Pacific coast only light armored emisers and second and third class ships of the cruiser type, any and all-of-which would be no more than good target practice for a squad-ron of modern battleships. It is privately admitted, according to a Washington correspondent, that the Navy Department hesitates to or der battleships to the Pacific waters at this time. While having every possible right to do so without question, it is well known that such a move would be selzed upon by the Japanese as an indication of hostile intent, and it might easily be made the subject of diplomatic inquiry—a thing which would not for a moment be tolerated by our Secretary of State and which might itself provoke a quarrel. The lack of proper coaling stations. t-is admitted by naval-experts, would be a serious handleap it we were plunged into a war with Japan at this time. AN ATTRACTIVE FAITH.

"The beauty of holiness."-Psalus,

Religion ought to be the most natural, desirable, and attractive thing to man, for it simply stands for the development of the best in us, the coming into the full and rich heritage that is ours as spiritual beings, and the realization of our highest possibilities of character and service. He who ignores religion is cutting himself off from the best and most beautiful possibilities in his tire: Some have talked of the necessity of making religion attractive. It does not have to be made attractive; there is nothing more desirable than the peace power and prosperity of the real life which it confers. It is the initation; the false and prejudiced presentation of religion that men endeavor to dress up attractively. In that they never succeed, for cramping the soul- and twisting the intellect ever is opposed by the best in us.

From the carlenture of religion we turn with loathing. Mummeries and morkeries, fads and forms leave us empty and deportient. The heart of uu goes out to things joyous and uplifting,, and they who find service in the church somehow are and inspiring in the woods and field and magning in the woods the held and mountains.

Miss Betty's Cavalier

By Zone Gale

(Copyright, by Joseph B. Bowles.)

As he turned the corner the new heart was beating. There was nothing formidable about the great gabled house; yet, as he walked up agitation increased There was a glimpse of pink muslin on the verands that was most disquieting.

However, he went on, and a bend in the drive revealed Miss Betty Sheri dan standing upon a chair training roses. The picture, which would have agitated even a quiet heart, caused the rector to contemplate retreat. Instead being a brave man, he stood at the foot of the steps and said gently:

"Good morning, Miss Betty."

Betty looked down and nodded be witchingly, and stooped to extend her hand over the back of the chair. "You'll forgive my not getting down?" she asked. "This is a critical moment. Max, please find Mr. Armory

From the vine-covered plazza came forth a big, languid figure, who gave the final touch to the uneasiness of the rector. Since his coming to the parish of St. Luke's, three months be-fore, and since he had first seen Betty Sheridan on the same day, he had fel a secret and most un-Christian repug-nance for this big cavaller, who seemed always within sound of her voice.

"How do, Mr. Armory?" said the big cavaller in flannels, looking uncomfortably handsome—uncomfortably to the rector. "Come up and be cool. It's a pretty warm morning." Very," admitted the rector. "Ah-

"My duties are my pleasures," said the rector. "This, for instance, Miss Sheridan."

This big cavalier in flannels, with hands that one instantly knew could send a ball over a net or across a course with unerring stroke, was very in his college days of becoming. "Why, yes," said the big cavaller in the doorway: "I'll drive you over after luncheon, Betty. But you'll have to be back for the tennis finals, you know.' "Yes, Max," said Betty, without looking at him. "And will you ask your mother if we may have some of roses, too? I am so sorry, Mr. nory. We will not fail you."

The Reverend Mr. Armory shamed of his sinful rebellion at that "we." The very fact that Betty did not look at the big cavalier when he talked, and that she ordered him about and took him and his mother's roses for granted, disturbed the rector's Sitting beside poor Agnes Chapman that afternoon, the Reverend Mr. Armory experienced sore trials of the spirit. His heart, which went out to the stricken girl, at the same time footfall outside that he was deeply indoubt as to his right to be there at all, engaged in ministrations. When at last Betty appeared in the doorway with her arms filled with roses, not even the memory of whose mother's roses they were could put out the sudden passionate joy in the rector's He sat mutely near while Bet ty bent over the sick girl, and Betty's hair in the sun. Betty's little hand the coarse spread, Betty's wonderful voice filled the shabby room with wonder. The Reverend Mr. Armory walk-ed to the window to hide his emotion. She was gone in a moment and the room was stuffy and sunny and un-bearable as before, and the phaeton wheels were clattering down the rough street. Horror at his sinful jealousy and petty speech possessed the rector, and he turned to the poor thin face on the pillow in a passion of remorse.

The rector passed his own gate that night and went on to the chapel. He was suddenly profoundly disturbed as to his own spiritual condition. When had he ever harbored such sinful thoughts toward another?

It was still and cool in the dim little shapel. The rector sank down in a Almost the burden was greater than ne could bear, he thought, as he looked ahead on the dreary days of joyless toil. She held out her hand. Before he knew the rector had taken it in both his own and stood looking down at her in a himult of thankfulness, and a fear that was sweet, like hope. "It was I," he said brokenly. "You must forgive me—You don't know what your coming there meant to me—you don't know how happy it made me. But then I—the thought that that sort of thing was my whole life to me, and just a sort of interfude to you, made me wretched and rebellious. Don't you see? It made us seem so hope lessly apart. DESORIPTION: Mode in all sizes. It is lively and easy riding, very durable and lined inside with a special quality of rubber, which never becomes porous and which closes up small punctures without allowing the air to escape. We have hundreds of letters from satisfact currents stating that their tires have only been pumped up once or twice in a whole scason. They weigh no more stating an ordinary tire, the puncture resisting qualities being given by several layers of thin, specially prepared fabric on the trood. That "Holding Back" sensation commonly felt when riding on a sphall prepared fabric on the trood.

that their tires may only been pumped up once or twice in a whole season. They weigh no more than an ordinary tire, the puncture resisting qualities being given by several layers of thin, specially prepared fabric on the troad. That "Holding Back" sensation commonly felt when riding on asphinit or soft roads is overcome. by the patent "basket Weave" tread which prevents all aft from being squeezed out between the tire and the road thus overcoming all suction. The regular price of these tires is $6.50 per pair, but for advertising purposes we are making a special satory price to the rider of only $4.50 per pair. All orders shipped same day letter is received. We ship C.O.D. on approval. You do not pay a cent until you have examined and found them atteitly as represented.
